

International Day of the Girl : 10 October 2019

08.10.2019

On 10 October 2019, the International Day of the Girl is celebrated worldwide.

The day is an opportunity to raise awareness of the challenges girls face and to celebrate their achievements. It is also a chance to promote gender equality and to ensure that girls have the same opportunities as boys.

On 10 October 2019, the International Day of the Girl is celebrated worldwide. This day is an opportunity to raise awareness of the challenges girls face and to celebrate their achievements. It is also a chance to promote gender equality and to ensure that girls have the same opportunities as boys.

On 10 October 2019, the International Day of the Girl is celebrated worldwide.

On 10 October 2019, the International Day of the Girl is celebrated worldwide. This day is an opportunity to raise awareness of the challenges girls face and to celebrate their achievements. It is also a chance to promote gender equality and to ensure that girls have the same opportunities as boys.

On 10 October 2019, the International Day of the Girl is celebrated worldwide. This day is an opportunity to raise awareness of the challenges girls face and to celebrate their achievements. It is also a chance to promote gender equality and to ensure that girls have the same opportunities as boys.

On 10 October 2019, the International Day of the Girl is celebrated worldwide. This day is an opportunity to raise awareness of the challenges girls face and to celebrate their achievements. It is also a chance to promote gender equality and to ensure that girls have the same opportunities as boys.

On 10 October 2019, the International Day of the Girl is celebrated worldwide. This day is an opportunity to raise awareness of the challenges girls face and to celebrate their achievements. It is also a chance to promote gender equality and to ensure that girls have the same opportunities as boys.

On 10 October 2019, the International Day of the Girl is celebrated worldwide. This day is an opportunity to raise awareness of the challenges girls face and to celebrate their achievements. It is also a chance to promote gender equality and to ensure that girls have the same opportunities as boys.

On 10 October 2019, the International Day of the Girl is celebrated worldwide. This day is an opportunity to raise awareness of the challenges girls face and to celebrate their achievements. It is also a chance to promote gender equality and to ensure that girls have the same opportunities as boys.

For more information, please visit our website. Click here to read the press release in English.

For more information, please contact Sarah M Brooks (Email: s.brooks@ishr.ch ; Twitter: @sarahmcneer) or Raphael Viana (Email: r.vianadavid@ishr.ch ; Twitter: @vdraphael).

Twitter: @Badiuca