

Human rights defender's story: Abdoulaye Kanni from Niger

24.11.2020

Lire la version française

"Defending human rights is my passion. For me, there was no better way to feel useful than defending human rights."

In this video, Abdoulaye Kanni, the coordinator of "Collectif des Organisations de Défense des Droits de l'Homme et de la Démocratie (CODDHD) - Niger," speaks about the necessity for his work and how using UN mechanisms can help increase impact and create change on the ground.

Watch the video here:

ISHER